Dallas Gets a Taste of Postal Reorganization

Hope isn't alone in the miseries of the Postal Service reorganization. It has struck "Big D"—as Dallas calls it—self—also.

My information is taken from a tear-sheet of the Dallas Times Herald of July 21, given to me by Kenneth Poindexter of Hope Community TV, Inc.

The last item in the article should have been placed first: A warning to Dallasites never to use the word "City" in addressing mail from one point to another within Dallas.

"Obviously," a postal authority is quoted as saying, "in this new system a letter with just 'city' could lose its identity."

That's a warning you read first in Hope Star. A couple of weeks ago we reported that Roy Anderson mailed a check to another Hope citizen and ended the address, as all of us used to, with "City." It took four days to make the journey across town. The letter went to Texarkana for sorting, but since "City" in Texarkana proved undeliverable the check was sent on to Dallas as an educated guess. Dallas couldn't figure it out, either, so finally the letter was returned to Hope and the man got his check—four days late.

If you're writing anyone in town put down the whole address: Hope, Ark. 71801—never use "City."

Today's mail service, as retired postman David Davis pointed out in a recent letter, depends less on postal workers and more on the arbitrary Zip Code. If you don't have "71801" on the envelope your letter may either be delayed or lost.

I have issued instructions to The Star staff to this effect, and if you get a letter or bill from us addressed merely "City" I would like to know about it—so the erring brother or sister can be talked to.

About Dallas, the Times Herald reports the sorting of mail for 25 surrounding towns is being concentrated in Big D. They'll have trouble, of course, just as Hope suffered in the weeks immediately following the removal of our sorting section to Oaklawn Post Office, Texarkana, Texas, May 6.

And the word is that the eventual sorting section for this area will be Shreveport, not Texarkana.

That will be the day. Meanwhile all is silent on the rural routes of Hempstead county. So I presume Star subscribers are getting their newspaper copies the morning after publication. If not, tell me about it. Our lawsuit against the Postal Service, suggested in the first couple of weeks after the May 6 switch, is still possible. But complaints should list at least three subscribers' names as evidence that delivery on an entire route has been delayed.

Antibusing bill passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to outlaw busing for the purpose of school desegregation was cleared for a House vote today by the Rules Committee.

The action was a victory for antibusing forces, who have been trying for a year to get a House vote on the amendment.

The Rules Committee vote, if sustained by the House, would remove the amendment from the Judiciary Committee, where it has been bottled up and permit an immediate House vote.

Sen. Eagleton is off the ticket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., today formally resigned as the Democratic party's nominee for vice president, saying his candidacy has apparently caused deep divisions in an already divided party.

In a letter to the party chairman, Mrs. Jean Westwood, Eagleton said the decision had not been easy for him and that literally thousands and thousands of people had urged him to stay on the ticket.

While telephones in his office jangled with even more expressions of support, Eagleton signed and sent off his letter of resignation.

"My personal feelings are secondary to the necessity to unify the Democratic party and elect George McGovern president of the United States," the three-paragraph letter said in part. "I support George McGovern and I'm going to continue working to see him elected president of the United States."

"I therefore resign as vice-presidential candidate on the 1972 Democratic ticket."

During the morning Eagleton was visited by columnist Jack Anderson, who has apologized publicly for broadcasting a claim last week that he had located copies of records showing Eagleton had been arrested for drunken driving.

However, Anderson refused to retract his story and said he wanted to check out all the details first. Today, before visiting the former vice-presidential candidate, Anderson told an interviewer "My inclination is to drop the whole thing."

Meantime Eagleton announced that he will seek reelection to the Senate from Missouri in 1974.

The Missouri senator, 42, said he gave in only at the personal urging of his running mate.

The two met for 1½ hours in one of the Senate's inner sanctums, the Marble Room near the Senate floor. Only Eagleton, McGovern and their mutual friend, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., were present.

Eagleton said he told McGovern what he'd been telling the nation for the past several days: that he thought he'd be an asset to the Democratic ticket despite the furor over his disclosure that he'd voluntarily but secretly undergone psychiatric treatment in the 1960s.

"I closed my argument by saying that I wanted to remain on the ticket," Eagleton said later at a news conference.

SEN. TOM EAGLETON

...steps down under pressure

Candidate search centers on eight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for a new Democratic vice-presidential candidate centers on eight men following Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton's precedent-setting withdrawal from the ticket.

Unable to convince presidential candidate George McGovern that the issue of Eagleton's history as a psychiatric patient would go away, the Missouri senator sadly stepped down Monday night and cleared the way for McGovern to look for a new running-mate.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, former Democratic National Committee Chairman Lawrence

F. O'Brien and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine head most speculators' lists of likely replacements for Eagleton, who became the first man in American history to give up a major party's nomination for vice president.

But Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, R. Sargent Shriver, former director of the Peace Corps, and McGovern's close Senate friends Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin are also major possibilities.

And in Atlanta, Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond, a leader in the "Blacks for McGovern" campaign, quoted a high-placed McGovern aide said Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter is being considered to replace Eagleton.

McGovern's first choice to the vacancy may still be Edward M. Kennedy. The Massachusetts senator has steadfastly disavowed any interest in running for national office this year.

But, following Eagleton's dramatic withdrawal Monday, McGovern could well go to Kennedy and argue that his chances have been damaged by the Eagleton affair and only a Kennedy on the ticket could preserve the Democrats' chances of beating President Nixon in November.

Problems loom for committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Echoes of once-settled procedural arguments loom before the Democratic National Committee as it sets out to choose a replacement for Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the vice-presidential nominee.

The solution, too, probably will have a familiar ring with the committee expected to ratify the choice made known by presidential candidate George McGovern.

Prior to the party's national convention, arguments droned on for days as competing delegations fought for the right to be seated, but in most disputes, McGovern's wishes prevailed.

Now, as the committee prepared to replay the convention in miniature, new rules governing selection of committee members have led to the same sort of seating challenges.

Eagleton's withdrawal Monday night, an unprecedented move prompted by the pressure stemming from his disclosure of psychiatric treatment on three occasions between 1960 and 1966, left the task of filling out the ticket to the revamped and somewhat confused national committee.

The complications arise from the new national committee structure formulated by the convention last month in Miami Beach. Yet this new-style committee must function under earlier rules tailored to the old committee.

Convention rules provide that in the event of a vacancy, the national committee is authorized to select the replacement "by a majority of the total number of votes provided at the convention."

This means that representatives of each state would cast proxy votes to total 3,016, same as the convention total.

About one-third of the new members haven't been elected yet, and staff members say that could take another two weeks.

'Not bitter' at decision, says former nominee

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Eagleton said today he is "not bitter" after agreeing to Sen. George McGovern's wishes that he withdraw as the Democratic party's vice presidential candidate.

"I'm not bitter; I'm not going to get bitter," Eagleton said on a CBS television show. He made the comment when asked his reaction to his announcement Monday night that he was withdrawing as McGovern's running mate.

He said McGovern, the party's presidential candidate, "could not have been finer. But, Eagleton said, he was 'troubled momentarily' by 'one or two members of Sen. McGovern's staff who were doing more backgrounding than they should have been doing.'"

He said they were "too busy backgrounding reporters that Eagleton should get off the ticket." He did not name the staff members.

Asked whether he thought the controversy over his having been hospitalized three times in the past for nervous exhaustion and fatigue had hurt his political future, Eagleton said:

"I'm absolutely satisfied about my health ... the last six years I've been sound as a dollar. I have every confidence in my health and my capacity."

As for his political future, he said, "Time will only tell." Then he announced, "I'm going to run for re-election in 1974. I'll give you a scoop on that. I'm going to run."

$1 million ransom paid to airplane skyjackers

ALGIERS (AP) — A U.S. airliner landed safely in Algiers today with the hijackers who took it over and the $1 million ransom they collected.

Algerian officials questioned the hijackers for two hours at the airport, then took them away.

Police also questioned the eight crew members of the Delta Air Lines DC8. They were expected to leave later today with the plane for the United States and to make an overnight stop in Barcelona, Spain.

Eldridge Cleaver, Don Cox and Pete O'Neil, the Black Panthers who have taken refuge in Algiers, came to the airport but were not allowed to speak to the hijackers.

Allan Davis, acting head of the American diplomatic mission in Algiers, was on hand when the airliner landed.

The FBI said three men from Detroit took over the Delta airliner Monday on a flight from Detroit to Miami. The hijackers, reportedly armed, were accompanied by two women and three children.

The hijackers let the 87 other passengers get off at Miami and took aboard a suitcase containing the $1 million ransom, which had been collected from Miami banks. With a crew of seven, the DC8 flew to Boston, loaded fuel and food and took aboard an international navigator. Then it flew to Algeria.

The eight passengers, all from Detroit, who remained on the plane were identified by the FBI in Detroit as Larry Burgess, Jean McNair, Yahari and Ayona McNair, both children; Joyce Tillerson, a child named Kenya Tillerson, Melvin McNair, and Harry Singleton.

Burgess was listed on the Delta passenger list as Rev. L. Burgess.

There was speculation that the Algerian government would return the $1 million as well as the plane. In a similar case two months ago, an American couple hijacked a Western Airlines Boeing 720 to Algiers after collecting $500,000. The Algerians seized the ransom money and returned it to the United States, but the two hijackers are still in Algiers awaiting a decision on their request for political asylum.

Bremer identified as man who shot George Wallace

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Two witnesses to the assassination attempt on George C. Wallace have identified Arthur H. Bremer in court as the man who wounded the Alabama governor.

Three other witnesses to the shooting failed to make a courtroom identification.

Bremer has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to 17 charges.

Wallace, seeking the Democratic nomination for president, and four other persons were wounded in a volley of shots as the governor wound up a campaign rally May 15 at a Laurel, Md., shopping center.

The two witnesses who identified Bremer walked into the spectators' section of the Circuit Court trial room at Monday's opening session to indicate with a tap on Bremer's shoulder that he was the man they had seen point a gun at Wallace.

Bremer was seated on the fourth row between two sheriff's deputies and was dressed in civilian clothes. His hair was somewhat longer than the last time he was seen publicly and he was wearing a new beard. He did not acknowledge the identification.

There was no testimony to tie the 21-year-old defendant directly to the .38 caliber revolver found at the scene or that it was the weapon with which the governor, one of his campaign workers, a Secret Service agent and an Alabama state trooper were wounded.

The next to last witness called by Prince Georges County State's Atty. Arthur A. Marshall on Monday, however, was Richard E. Doby, a Milwaukee, Wis., gun salesman, who indirectly linked Bremer with the weapon.

Doby said he did not remember selling a revolver to Bremer, but he verified his signature on a sales slip showing purchase of a gun last January by Bremer.

The first identification of Bremer as the assailant came from Mrs. Ross E. Speigle of Laurel, Md. She hesitated only about 20 seconds before picking out Bremer from among the 100 spectators and newsmen in the courtroom.

Mrs. Speigle told the court before identifying Bremer that "an arm came across my left shoulder with a gun" only seconds before Wallace was wounded.

Mrs. Speigle's identification was backed up by the witness who followed her to the stand, county police officer Michael Landrum.

The opening day moved very rapidly. A jury of six men and six women was selected in only a little more than one hour.

In his opening statement, defense attorney Benjamin Lipsitz told the jury he would present a picture of Bremer that would show him to be "a boy who was weird from the day he came on this earth ..."

"I don't know whether Arthur Bremer shot Gov. Wallace and three others May 15, and I'm not sure even Arthur Herman Bremer knows."

Hanoi shipyard bombed by jets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy jets attacked a shipyard in Haiphong harbor for the first time in the war Monday and left it in flames, the U.S. Command announced today.

The target was the Haiphong Shipyard No. 3 on the southwestern edge of North Vietnam's chief port. Pilots from the carrier Saratoga said they left three large, sustained fires in the yard, which builds and repairs shallow-draft vessels of various sizes.

The U.S. Command said the strikes were not near the deep-draft ships in the port, and "there were no foreign vessels" in the area that was bombed.

Spokesmen said 27 foreign ships were still in Haiphong's deepwater channels, trapped by the U.S. mine field planted last May 9.

Overcast skies reduced the U.S. strikes Monday to a little more than 200 raids across North Vietnam, compared to more than 300 the day before. The U.S. Command reported that its planes also destroyed or damaged 12 water supply craft, 12 trucks, eight bridges, 13 storage areas and warehouses and two fuel pipelines.

In South Vietnam, Communist forces made their heaviest shelling attack of the year so far against a U.S. installation, pouring more than 70 rockets into the Bien Hoa Air Base 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

One American was killed, 15 were wounded, and 13 others were injured while trying to take cover, the U.S. Command said. The South Vietnamese said 17 Vietnamese were wounded.

The last American combat forces providing security in the Bien Hoa area were phased out a week ago as part of President Nixon's troop withdrawal program, and the South Vietnamese took over their patrols of outlying areas to prevent enemy troops from getting within rocket and mortar range.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out 100 more strikes, and more than half of them were in the northern provinces of South Vietnam around Quang Tri City and Hue, the bombers attacked in North Vietnam, just above the demilitarized zone.

South Vietnamese forces on the northern edges of Quang Tri City and on the western flanks of Hue 30 miles to the south came under heavy artillery and mortar bombardment, the Saigon command said. It said casualties were light.

President Nguyen Van Thieu predicted that North Vietnam before the U.S. presidential election would launch a new military offensive around Quang Tri and Hue, coupled with a "political offensive" in Saigon.

He also called on the United States to continue the bombing of the North, saying, "If we want to end this war, we must continue to destroy all of North Vietnam's military installations and economic power. Then the North Vietnamese people will revolt against their government...."

Eagleton lauded by Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leading Democrats gave Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton warm commendations as his faltering candidacy flickered out, and some hinted their relief that at least one uncertainty had ended.

"I'm sorry," lamented Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield at Eagleton's announcement Monday night that he is withdrawing as the party's vice-presidential candidate. "But it was a decision that had to be made. I still have every faith, trust and confidence in Tom Eagleton."

The tone was much the same in comments by other party leaders praising the Missouri senator's courage for pulling out of the race rather than chancing a campaign focused on personality rather than issues, a prospect presidential nominee George McGovern had feared.

Sentiment was more sharply divided as party leaders assessed the impact of Eagleton's withdrawal on an already-uphill campaign against an incumbent Republican president.

While Democrats in many states were rallying to the party flag, Missouri Democrats were rallying mainly to Eagleton as they had during the past week when his disclosure of psychiatric treatment on three occasions in the early 1960s produced the pressures finally culminating in his resignation.

"I'm extremely proud of my brother," said a disappointed Mark Eagleton, a St. Louis radiologist. "He has shown more guts, candor and courage than most people will show in a lifetime."

"George McGovern couldn't shine Tom Eagleton's shoes," declared Shirley Butters, Missouri's former national committeewoman.

Missouri party chairman, Delton Houtchens, vowed to abandon his campaign on behalf of the presidential ticket.

Other state party leaders responded in a more conciliatory tone.

Comments included: Eagleton exhibited "raw courage in a time of frustration and turmoil." —Oklahoma Gov. David Hall.

"Eagleton obviously was doing what he felt was best for the nation and the party." —Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan.

"Unfortunately but necessary." —Indiana's national committeeman, Richard Stoner.

"It's a mistake." —Washington state Democratic chairman Neale Chaney.

"Eagleton's withdrawal has opened up a Pandora's box which could deny McGovern the time he had counted on to project his campaign." —Rep. Roman C. Puckinski, an Illinois Democrat running for the Senate.

Bizarre display greets investigating officers

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Federal agents investigating the house of the persons the FBI said hijacked a Delta jet bound for Miami Monday found a bizarre and ritualistic display.

Entering the small frame bungalow on Detroit's east side, agents reported finding a mound of dirt in the front room, precisely arranged furniture, a pink candle, and an astrologic chart—and on top of the mound a naked plastic doll with a pen knife stuck in its back.

Beside the mound were seven pennies arranged in a semi-circle around a small piece of bone, the FBI said. At the head were nine more pennies, arranged in a circle around a dish which contained food. Nearby was a gold cup filled with a clear liquid.

Throughout the cluttered house were newspapers and pamphlets, blacklight posters and a large blue poster reading "Fly Delta's Big Jets."

The FBI said eight persons lived in the house until Monday: Melvin and Jean McNair, apparently husband and wife; their children, Yahari and Ayona; Joyce Tillerson; her child, Kenya; Harry Singleton; and Larry Burgess.

Burgess, the FBI said, was apparently the hijacker who posed as a priest registered as "The Rev. L. Burgess." Six other names, including two children, similar to those given by the FBI, were on the airliner's passenger list.

Neil Welch, special agent in charge of the Detroit FBI, said little was known about the hijackers, and even less about the symbolic layout they left behind.

James and Al Moss, brothers who live with their wives next door, said they had visited the occupants of the house frequently and had talked with the residents about "freedom."

"They weren't meat eaters; they were into the vegetarian thing," said Al Moss.

Both he and James Moss said the occupants of the house were "well-read people."

"They talked about moving to the country, or about going to Africa. They never talked about it specifically, though. But it seemed like they had read every book in the world. They were aware they were black, and they were proud of it," said James Moss.

"I know what the grave (the mound) meant in there," added Al. "They just buried society, the society in which we all live. They were ordinary people."

Sen. Ellender buried at Houma

HOUMA, La. (AP) — "Proud of his Cajun heritage, he conceived national policies in the terms and concept of family experience and policies," the archbishop said of Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La.

President Nixon, vice president Agnew and Sen. George McGovern D-S.D., the Democratic party's presidential candidate, led the dignitaries who joined mourners from this french-speaking city for the last rites Monday of its favorite son.

It was a day many of the 25,000 residents of this South Louisiana town knew was coming eventually to put Houma in the nation's spotlight, but it was a day they had dreaded.

Ellender, 81, the president pro tem of the U.S. Senate, died last Thursday as he interrupted campaigning to return to Washington for a vote on a bill.

As the bell on the steeple of St. Francis de Sales Roman Catholic Church tolled, the President, vice president and about 80 admirals, generals, Cabinet members, congressional leaders and an estimated 200 relatives congregated for the Requiem High Mass.

Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans said in the eulogy?

"He always saw national and international problems through the prism of the family experience. This accounted for his simplicity and candor."

In his letter, Bumpers notes that Arkansas is one of three states excluded from the Amtrak system. He says that Congress has appropriated an additional $2 million to expand the system to include service from the United States to Mexico.

The governor says "one obvious route" to Mexico would be through Little Rock to Texarkana to Dallas to Nuevo Laredo.

"The inclusion of Arkansas within the Amtrak system could benefit our state immeasurably," Bumpers said. "As the years pass, transportation experts are becoming more and more convinced that air and motor vehicle transport are not sufficient."

Mills choice of Hall for nomination

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Even before Sen. Thomas Eagleton announced his withdrawal from the Democratic ticket, Oklahoma Gov. David Hall said Monday he knew whom he would prefer on the ballot.

"Wilbur Mills would be my first choice if I'm asked about it," he said. "He would give the ticket some balance."

Hall, who made the comments about Mills before Eagleton's announcement, called the Missouri Senator's decision "a selfless act" putting party and the good of this country ahead of his own personal ambitions.

"Sen. McGovern can now focus his attentions on the burning issues such as domestic employment and inflation, and he can debate his opponent on the real issues, not charges and counter-charges," he said.

The Oklahoma governor had said earlier Monday that he would vote for the Democratic presidential nominee, but added that he did not plan to do much for the top of the party ticket unless Mills became the vice presidential candidate.

Hall said most of his personal campaigning will be for legislative party and the good of this country ahead of his own personal ambitions.

But, in anticipation of Eagleton dropping the nomination, Hall said he would seek to have his commitments eased to permit him to work for the McGovern-Mills ticket if it came to be.

Edwards' wife is senator

BATON ROUGE, LA. (AP) — Gov. Edwin Edwards today appointed his wife Elaine to complete the unexpired term of U.S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, who died last Thursday.

Edwards said he wanted "to use this appointment as an opportunity to make a meaningful, symbolic gesture to the women of Louisiana, who have for too long been under-represented in the halls of Congress."

Bumpers pleas for Amtrak

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers has written letters to the chambers of commerce in Arkansas asking for their support in a drive to get Arkansas included in the Amtrak Railway Passenger System.

An aide to the governor, Tom McRae, said the letter was sent to all chamber presidents in the state.

The surprising Maverick.

It's a comfortable, 6-cylinder American compact that's actually priced below the Volkswagen 113.

If you can afford a Volkswagen 113 — or almost any little import — you can afford a Maverick. Look:

FORD MAVERICK	2-door	6-cylinder	$2,140.*
VW 113 (Super Beetle)	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,159.*
TOYOTA COROLLA 1600	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,109.*
DATSUN PL 510	2-door	4-cylinder	$2,306.*

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for 2-door models. Excludes dealer preparation charges if any, destination charges, title and taxes.

NOTE: People ask us how we can afford to offer a roomy, 6-cylinder compact at about the same price as the little imports. First, we've been making small cars since 1908. Experience helps. Second, we haven't changed Maverick — except for mechanical improvements — since we first introduced it. That kind of continuity helps to control costs. Third, recent currency revaluations and devaluations have helped restore the competitive stance of American manufacturers.

Most little imports give you 4-cylinder engines. Maverick gives you a 6-cylinder engine. It's smooth. It's reliable. It lets you accelerate into turnpike traffic with confidence and hold your own on steep hills. And it delivers surprisingly good gas mileage.

A good car for long trips. Maverick's rear track is 2.9" wider than Volkswagen's. Its wheelbase is 7.7" longer. There's a bit more weight, too. By themselves, these differences aren't very big — but they can add up to a big difference in the way Maverick drives and handles the open road.

Better idea for safety... buckle up!

It may just be the best car value in America today.

Television and Radio

By DENNIS FRIEL
NEW YORK (AP) — Time — as in prime — is always up- permost in the minds of tele- vision industry heads, but it doesn't usually cause the prob- lem posed by the upcoming Olympic Games in Munich.

Consider it: If an American turns in a gold medal perfor- mance at 2 p.m. on the field, Cal- ifornians would have to be awake at 5 a.m. to see it and New Yorkers might chance being late for work because of watching it at 8 a.m.

Obviously, neither hour would attract many viewers.

In fact, almost all the events will be contested at times in- convenient to American au- diences.

The answer apparently is go- ing to be a not-so-instant replay system.

For example: The 100-meter race, which normally draws a great deal of worldwide inter- est, is scheduled to be run at 11 a.m. Munich time.

ABC will be handling Ameri- can coverage. Because live transmission would be seen in the United States between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m. the race and subsequent interviews with par- ticipants will be recorded and edited onto a master tape.

The master tape will be transmitted via satellite to the network's New York studios for broadcast between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Because of the speed of elec- tronic editing, the tapes can be updated as new material is bounced off the satellite.

In similar fashion, each of 100 countries will tailor its Olympic coverage to the time and interests of its native au- dience—a combined effort that is expected to reach the great- est television audience in his- tory. The games run from Aug. 26 to Sept. 10.

Industry experts are saying the total television audience may approach the one billion mark. About 300 million throughout the world were video witnesses to the first moon landing in 1969.

German television authorities estimate that 95 per cent of all televised events will be viewed via tapes.

More than 100 color television cameras and 91 color video recorders, including the instant replay equipment, have been assigned to the Olympics.

According to Deutsches Olym- piscches Zentrum (DOZ), the total value of all television equip- ment assembled for the games will exceed $30 million.

Some 2,500 television tech- nicians, announcers and offi- cials will be mobilized to oper- ate this big battery of equip- ment. This represents about one television employe for ev- ery athlete.

Underground Missouri (UPI) — Missouri is known as the cave state because of its large number of commercially operated caves. The Missouri Geological Survey said Missouri now has nearly 3,000 wild caves. About 300 to 350 new caves are discovered annually.

MRS. GARY ALLAN NEAVILLE

Ellen Elizabeth Turner weds Gary Neaville

Miss Ellen Elizabeth Turner and Gary Allan Neaville of North Little Rock were united in marriage at 2:30 in the afternoon Sunday, July 30, in the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. McDowell Turner, of Hope, and Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Neaville Jr. of North Little Rock.

Dr. S.A. Whitlow, assisted by the Rev. Jay Frank Holsted of North Little Rock, performed the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Lanier Bayliss of Fort Smith, vocalist, and John Jones of Gurdon, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk-faced peau de soie fashioned with an empire bodice and high neckline of English net trimmed in scalloped re-embroidered Alencon lace heavily studded with seed pearls and sequins. The long sleeves of English net were dotted with pearls lace motifs ending in lily points over her hands. The back of the A-line skirt swept to a full length detachable Cathedral train edged in Alencon lace. Her waist length veil of silk illusion fell from a lace and pearl Juliet cap. She wore an heirloom locket and carried a borrowed Brussels lace and linen handkerchief. Golden Wave roses, fleur d'amour, and baby's breath were used for her colonial bouquet.

Mrs. Joseph Houston Purvis was her sister's honor at- tendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Jeanne Pruden of Shreveport, Miss Sarah Marie Weir of Hoxie, and Miss Joan Britton Turner of Memphis, the bride's cousin. They wore identical maize Saki floor length dresses with high rise Princess line and skirts flowing to a back sweep. They carried miniature colonial bouquets of daisies and roses and wore flowers in their hair.

Mr. Neaville was his son's best man. Groomsman were Lt. Robert Dempster of Fort Bragg, N.C., Larry Shadid of North Little Rock, and David C. Shaver of Tuckerman. Ushers were Joseph Houston Purvis and James Clyde Browning, the bride's cousin.

Vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of yellow candles, greenery, and a prie dieu. Two candle trees were flanked by arrangements of white daisies and gladiolas. The pew candles were lighted by the ushers.

Miss Mary Catherine Browning, the bride's cousin, presided at the guestbook in the church foyer. A memory candle and nosegays of yellow and white daisies and feather fern were used on the net covered table.

A reception in fellowship hall followed the ceremony. Mrs. Henry Haynes greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line. The serving table was covered with net over white linen and was caught at each corner with daisy nosegays. The centerpiece was an arrangement of roses, daisies, and feather fern and yellow candles in a silver epergne. The pale yellow tiered wedding cake was decorated with darker yellow flowers, wedding bells, and an arrangement of fresh flowers. Fruit punch was served from a crystal bowl.

Mrs. Richards Howard and Mrs. Jewel Moore Jr. presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Perry Moses and Mrs. H.A. Spraggins served the wedding cake.

Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. Clyde Browning, Miss Mary Catherine Browning, Mrs. James Connelly, Miss Kim Connelly, Mrs. Walter Ed Allison of Memphis, Mrs. Mary Walker, Miss Annette Walker, Miss Mary Roy Moses, Miss Peggy King, Miss Junanne Reynolds, Bill Browning and Bob Browning. Also included were Miss Debbie Sallings and Miss Valerie Thwing of Wynne; Miss Julie Connelly of Hot Springs; Miss Linda Cranford, Mrs. Virgil Bethea, Mrs. Larry Don Wright, Miss Penny Jaques, and Miss Stephanie James of Little Rock.

After a brief trip Mr. and Mrs. Neaville will be at home in Little Rock. Mr. Neaville will continue his studies at the University of Arkansas Medical School, and Mrs. Neaville will teach in a North Little Rock school.

Following rehearsal Satur- day night, July 29, Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Neaville Jr. of North Little Rock entertained members of the Turner-Neaville wedding party with dinner at the Heritage House.

White and yellow daisies and candles were used for decorations at the table where the twenty guests were seated. The bridal couple chose this time to present gifts to their attendants.

Leo reunion is planned

The annual Leo Reunion will be held Sunday, August 27 at the American Legion Hut in Prescott. Friends and relatives are invited to attend. Lunch will be "Pot Luck" and coffee, tea and cold drinks will be served. Officers of the 1972 Reunion are Jessie Burke of Hope, President, Ellis Whitten of El Dorado, Vice-President and Mrs. Hershel Bradshaw of Pine Bluff, Secretary-Treasurer.

How POW Bracelet Sales Help HELEN AND SUE:
Thanks for telling us where to send for POW bracelets, but here's a question several people asked me: How does the money from sales help?

Money along won't get these men out of prison camps.—CONCERNED ABOUT OUR POWS CONCERNED:

True, we can't "buy" our POWs' release, but bracelet money helps keep the public (including Hanot aware of their plight and our will to bring them home.

We sent your question to a VIVA executive who answered it as follows:

"Having been informed of the tragic situation with our American POW-MIA's, VIVA chose in October, 1970, to set aside all other activities and concentrate solely on the solution of this problem until ALL prisoners are freed.

"Here are some of the projects financed by bracelet sales:

"1. VIVA gave a national symposium for POW-MIA families from all over the country so that they might plan and organize National POW-MIA Week.

"2. It placed ads with a clip- out letter to Congress in 70 major newspapers.

"3. VIVA buys advertising space on 25 million match books per month, which inform people of the POW-MIA plight.

"4. It helps POW-MIA family groups whenever there is a need.

"5. It has information in- serted in college newspapers to reach over two million students.

"6. It supplies materials, arranges for speakers, and helps plan approximately 250 POW-MIA programs a week in schools, shopping centers, conventions, etc.

"VIVA answers some 2,000 written requests for literature, etc. per day. It receives and forwards at least 100 letters a day from citizens to family members. These not only boost family morale, but also will be meaningful to men who return after years of hearing the enemy say that Americans don't care.

"8. It will provide funds, when justified, to establish offices in cities which are directing a POW-MIA efforts, i.e. pay rent or salary of the office manager."

Mainly, "Concerned," your bracelet money insures that the country will not forget.

POW bracelets may be had by sending a donation of $2.50 (for nickel) or $3.00 (for cop- per) to VIVA, 10966 LeConte, Los Angeles, Calif., 90024, or POW/MIA CAMPAIGN, 2053 "R" Street, McClellan Air Force Base, Calif., 95652.—HELEN AND SUE

DEAR RAP:
What's your definition of "gossip," and what's the difference between gossiping and being painfully frank? Which is preferable?—STUDENT OF HUMAN NATURE

DEAR STUDENT:
Gossip is what you wouldn't say if the person were there. "Painful frankness" is saying it WHEN the person is there.

I think we could do without BOTH!—SUE

DEAR SOHN:
Gossip—among women—is repeating something which, if said to a girl's face, might bring a slap. Among men? Well, they CALL it "informative discussion."

When a person brags about being "painfully frank" he's usually saying, "I'm envious," whether he realizes it or not.

In fact, both gossiping and hurtful frankness often stem from the urge to bring others low; but I think the latter is the more vicious.—HELEN

P.S. Come to think of it, a little gossip isn't such a bad thing—it livens a conversation, provides good reading, and shows that we're still interested in someone besides ourselves. If it were suddenly banned, the world would seem pretty dull.—HELEN AND SUE

Home-style good humor

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

A few more laughs at mealtime could ward off many digestive problems. So if the youngsters yak it up while eating, don't call for total silence. Kids love rid- dles, especially in the pre- teen years, and love to spring them on the family when eating. If you hear a riddle for the umpteenth time, take heart and encour- age the fun. According to child-care experts, the abil- ity to laugh and make other people laugh is one of the most enviable traits a young person can acquire. Eliza- beth B. Hurlock in her book "Child Development," points out that a child soon discov- ers having a sense of humor is a highly valued character- istic. Children who are pop- ular almost always have this quality. And it can be nurtured. So smile along. There is a new rash of rid- dles sweeping the younger set. So if you're armed with riddles like, "Why is it hard to talk with a goat around?" you'll get laughs with the answer: "He keeps butting in." Keep the home humor rolling with Frosted Ice Cream cups, replete with a generous supply of riddles.

FROSTED ICE CREAM CUPS
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 cups pecan halves
1 can (pound) peaches, drained and diced
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 quart vanilla ice cream
Heat butter in a skillet until it melts and stir in brown sugar. Cook mixture while stirring until bubbly. Add nuts and stir until all pecans are coated. Cool pecans by spreading out on a cookie sheet. Break pecans apart. Soften ice cream and fold in nuts, peaches and almond extract. Spoon mixture into riddle cups. Cover and freeze until hard. If de- sired, top with your favorite chocolate sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Broadway Joe is still unsigned

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — When he's not running drills and participating in scrimmages on the practice field, quarterback Joe Namath is huddling with New York Jets' management over his contract.

With the Jets' first preseason National Football League game against San Francisco only four days away, Namath still is unsigned, although he has remained in camp. Broadway Joe has participated in the Jets' preseason training regimen but says he will not play in exhibition or regular season games without a contract.

Asked about the negotiations, Jets President Phil Iselin replied: "The hard part is over. We haven't agreed on the money, though."

Several hours later, however, the Jets' public relations staff announced a noon press conference today, saying only, "It will be an item of major importance."

Meanwhile, the Jets said they still had not heard from their No. 1 draft selection, wide receiver Jerome Barkum of Jackson State, and that all attempts to contact him have been unsuccessful.

At Thousand Oaks, Calif., late Monday night, the Dallas Cowboys traded controversial backfield star Duane Thomas to the San Diego Chargers for wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery, both second-year players.

The Chargers then traded fullback Jeff Queen to the Oakland Raiders for a No. 3 draft choice in 1973. The Cowboys also sent wide receiver Gloster Richardson to Oakland for an undisclosed draft pick.

Elsewhere in pro football, the Minnesota Vikings remained at odds with three of their hold-outs—running back Clint Jones, wide receiver Gene Washington and defensive back Charlie West.

Jones and Washington had been scheduled to rejoin the team at its Mankato State camp Monday, but failed to report. West left the Vikings' training site after learning of the new disagreement.

Chuck LaTourette, veteran St. Louis punter, says his medical education is more vital than pro football and has not reported to the Cardinals' Lake Forest, Ill., training camp. However, he said he is willing to play weekends for the NFL minimum of $14,000, far less than the $30,000 he earned last season.

The Cleveland Browns traded tackle Mitch Johnson, plus a 1974 eighth-round draft choice, to the Redskins for the New Orleans Saints' 1973 third-round pick, previously acquired by Washington.

The New England Patriots acquired punter John Benien from the Detroit Lions for a future draft choice.

Players call Fry's scrimmage 'bloodbath'

DALLAS (AP) — Hayden Fry says he wasn't trying to run anybody off — just giving them a chance to show what they could do.

Fry, head football coach at Southern Methodist, was accused by some of his players of running a "bloodbath" scrimmage to discourage unwanted scholarship players last spring.

In a telephone conversation with The Associated Press from Houston, Monday, Fry said "the extra drill that was mentioned was simply a full speed drill to see if we had overlooked any of the kids with potential."

"It was distasteful that the drill was described as a blood bath," Fry said. "It was simply

Names will remain secret

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Those receiving complimentary tickets to Arkansas Razorback football games remained a secret Monday.

Circuit Court Judge Warren Wood ruled that the University of Arkansas did not have to reveal the names.

The judge's ruling was on a suit filed by five students at the university's Little Rock campus, who sought the names under the state's Freedom of Information Act.

John McMahan of Benton, one of the students, said he thought they would appeal Wood's decision.

"In my judgment...this (Freedom of Information) act never contemplated the identity of the recipients of complimentary tickets," Wood said.

Wood called the act vital because he said the public has the right to know what action public officials take. Wood also said plaintiffs had not shown why they wanted to see the list. "The gratification of one's curiosity is not sufficient," he said. "These people have not shown what benefit the receipt of such information would be for them."

Athletic Director George Cole and Fred S. Vorsanger, vice president for business affairs at the university, testified they had refused McMahan access to the list because the attorney general's office said March 9 that it could not find a law requiring the university to keep such a list.

Vorsanger said the list was kept partly to show to state auditors or any of the teams in the Southwest Conference, which might question where the complimentary tickets go.

Cole testified that if the public knew who received the tickets "there would be a lot of harassment of people sitting in complimentary seats."

Ashe scores victory

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For Arthur Ashe Monday's 6-4, 6-4 victory over Mark Cox of Great Britain in the finals of the $50,000 First National Tennis Classic here was just another day at work.

"Sure I'm pleased to win the tournament, and I thought I played well," said Ashe. "But on this pro circuit you've always got to keep looking toward tomorrow."

Ashe won't have much time to savor his Louisville victory, which netted him $10,000. He meets Cox again today in the opening round of the U.S. Pro Championships at Boston.

"He'll probably beat the hell out of me up there," said Ashe.

It was the tall lanky Ashe, however, a former Davis Cupper and U.S. Open Champ who did the winning in the final match at the Louisville Tennis Center Monday. The match lasted just an hour, and Ashe held sway throughout.

It was the first tournament win of the year for Ashe.

Otis steals home for win

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

American League batters have had a tough time hitting Nolan Ryan this season but Monday night his own first baseman couldn't handle him and it cost him a ballgame.

The fireballing right-hander, who once struck out 21 batters in a minor league game but lost 2-1 on two steals of home, had lightning strike again when Amos Otis stole home with an unearned run in the fourth inning after Ryan's wild pickoff throw to give Kansas City a 1-0 victory over the California Angels. The Royals didn't get a hit until Steve Hovley's first-pitch single in the eighth.

Up to that point, Ryan was threatening to become the second pitcher in modern baseball history to lose a complete-game no-hitter.

Elsewhere, Oakland's Vida Blue retired the first 17 Texas batters and hurled a two-hit 2-0 triumph over the Rangers. Detroit's Mickey Lolich became the majors' first 18-game winner by turning back Boston 5-2, the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader in Baltimore for the first time in 16 years 5-2 and 2-1, Chicago's Dick Allen became only the second modern player to hit two inside-the-park home runs in one game as the White Sox whipped Minnesota 8-1 and Cleveland swept Milwaukee for the second straight day 3-2 in 10 innings and 2-1.

Ryan allowed only Hovley's single and struck out 11 before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth. But he issued one of his six walks to Otis leading off the fourth and then threw wildly past first—one of three such throwing errors he committed during the game—allowing Otis to race to third.

Otis stayed put as Ed Kirkpatrick struck out and Lou Piniella bounced back to Ryan. But then he surprised everybody by stealing home as John Mayberry watched a 3-2 pitch sail low for ball four.

Almost overlooked in the excitement was the three-hit pitching of Kansas City's Roger Nelson, who struck out nine and retired the last 15 California batters. Ironically, in his last outing Nelson blanked Chicago on four hits and broke up a no-hit bid by Stan Bahnsen with a two-out single in the eighth inning.

Oakland's Blue, striving to regain the 1971 form that earned him the AL's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young Awards, lost his no-hitter when Texas pitcher Rich Hand beat him out a bunt with two out in the sixth. The Rangers' only other hit was Toby Harrah's pinch single in the ninth.

Blue also scored Oakland's first run, racing home all the way from second base in the third inning when left fielder Ted Ford caught Joe Rudi's fly ball and trotted toward the dugout thinking the inning was over.

Detroit's Lolich didn't have everything Blue had—"I was struggling all night," he said—but managed to down the Red Sox despite yielding seven hits, including Carl Yastrzemski's second homer of the season, and walking five. Aurelio Rodriguez and Bill Freehan socked two-run homers for the Tigers, with Freehan's snapping a 2-2 tie in the fifth.

The triumph boosted Detroit's lead over Baltimore in the AL East to 2½ games.

Baltimore skipper Earl Weaver, who bypassed New York's relief ace Sparky Lyle for last week's All-Star Game, could only sit and watch as Lyle spun two scoreless innings in each game, saving the opener for Fritz Peterson and the nightcap for Rob Gardner, his 20th and 21st rescue jobs.

"Take that, Earl Weaver," muttered Yankee catcher Thurman Munson. "Pick somebody else for your All-Star team."

The Yankees rallied to win both games, scoring five runs in the seventh inning of the opener on five scratch hits, two errors, a walk, a fielder's choice and one solid single and capturing the nightcap on Bobby Murcer's two-out, two-run single in the eighth.

It's the same sad story; Reds can't win at home

By TOM EMORY Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds are a feared baseball team, except, oddly enough, in their own Riverfront Stadium.

The leaders of the National League West Division have a 57-37 record but only 22 of those victories have come in Cincinnati.

It was the same sad story for the Reds in Cincinnati Monday night. San Francisco, trailing the Reds by 15 games, beat Cincinnati 7-2. The Reds didn't even score until the ninth inning.

"I have no idea why we can't win at home," Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson said. "I think basically we should be a better club at home than on the road. This stadium is built for a team like ours."

Dan Carrithers, the Giant starter, wasn't about to help the Reds as he retired the first 13 batters before Tony Perez singled. The right-hander, who is 3-6 and has a 5.59 earned run average, was practically untouchable.

The Giants scored twice in the first as Bobby Bonds and Garry Maddox singled, Chris Speier hit a sacrifice fly and Tito Fuentes singled. Bonds hit his 17th homer in the third and Carrithers slapped a two-run double in the fourth. Ed Goodson and Speier drove in the final San Francisco runs.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston edged San Diego 3-2, Chicago blanked St. Louis 4-0, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 2-0, Atlanta trimmed Los Angeles 4-3 and New York topped Montreal 4-2.

Houston's John Edwards walked with the bases loaded in the ninth to decide the game with San Diego, which had played three straight extra-inning games. The Astros scored the winning run without a hit as the Padres gave up two intentional walks before Edwards' base on balls.

Ferguson Jenkins got his 14th victory with his shutout of St. Louis. He also drove in two Chicago runs with a single. Billy Williams and Ron Santo drove in the Cubs' other runs.

Rhyme is burned in house fire

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Quarterback Jerry Rhyme of the Los Angeles Rams was burned in a fire at his home Monday night.

Rhyme, 30, was treated for second-degree burns on his shoulders and first-degree burns on his back at Huntington Beach Intercommunity Hospital and released, a hospital spokesman said.

The hospital spokesman said Rhyme's burns weren't serious. It wasn't learned when he could play football again.

Duane Thomas is traded to San Diego

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Controversial Duane Thomas, the silent Cowboy, was traded late Monday night by Dallas to the San Diego Chargers in a 2-for-1 National Football League player swap.

The Chargers gave up second-year wide receiver Billy Parks and second-year running back Mike Montgomery.

Thomas, standing 6-feet-1 and weighing 205 pounds, missed two team meetings and a practice session Monday, and had been fined by the club earlier in the day.

The trade, rumored for weeks, was completed about 11 p.m., Cowboys president and general manager Tex Schramm said.

The moody third-year running back from West Texas State, a star in his short career in the NFL, gained 793 yards on 175 carries for the Super Bowl champions last year, rushing for a 4.5-yard-per-carry average and 11 touchdowns. He caught 13 passes for 153 yards and two scores.

Parks, a 6-1, 185-pound Long Beach State graduate, caught 41 passes for San Diego last season for 609 yards and four touchdowns in only nine games before breaking an arm.

Montgomery, a 6-2, 210-pound Kansas State grad, ran for 226 yards in 60 carries, caught 28 passes for 371 yards and even completed three of six passes last season.

With the acquisition of Thomas, the Chargers then swapped fullback Jeff Queen to the Oakland Raiders for a No. 3 draft choice in 1973.

Queen was a regular for part of last season and gained 318 yards for the Chargers.

Moments before the midnight interleague trading deadline, the Cowboys sent sixth-year wide receiver Gloster Richardson to Oakland for an undisclosed draft choice.

The 6-2, 200-pound Richardson caught eight passes for 170 yards and three touchdowns last year and has a career record of 70 catches for 1,528 yards, an average per catch of 21.8 yards, and 15 scores.

More than 130,000 square miles, or about 53 per cent, of Alberta is forested.

LEE TREVINO

Now it's come down to the last of the year's four major championships and Trevino is ready to take up Nicklaus' standard role as favorite.

Gary Player of South Africa, the muscular little physical fitness faddist, and 42-year-old Arnold Palmer also rank as major contenders in the 72-hole event that gets underway Thursday.

San Antonio defeats Travs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — John Conzatti stopped the Arkansas Travelers on two hits here Monday night as San Antonio walked away with an 8-0 Texas League victory.

The Brewers exploded for five runs in the first three innings, tagging starter Steve Evans with his eighth loss in 12 decision.

Legalization of marijuana nixed in Canada

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's Health Minister says the government won't legalize possession of marijuana and hashish for personal use but it is taking steps to reduce the penalties. There is "no intention to legalize possession of cannabis (marijuana) or hashish in any form," Health Minister John Munro said in a statement Monday. Munro said the government is attempting to separate marijuana cases from cases involving hard drugs such as heroin. The government has instructed prosecutors to urge the courts to give "absolute or conditional discharges" to a person found guilty of possessing soft drugs if the offender has not been charged with other offenses and has no criminal record, the statement said. Laws that took effect July 15 allow judges to grant such discharges and thus spare the offender a criminal record. Munro added that the government intends to transfer all offenses and controls relating to marijuana from the Narcotics Control Act to the Food and Drug Act or other legislation with less severe penalties. Munro's statement in effect rejected the recommendation in May of the government's Le Dain Commission that marijuana be legalized.

Probation for man guilty of narcotics possession

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Franklin Jefferson Malone III, 22, of Clarksville, Tenn., is pictured in the Clarksville High School's 1968 annual over the captions: "The greatest enticement to mischief is the hope of not being punished." Malone, son of a physician, pleaded guilty last November to a charge of possession narcotics with intent to sell. The charge stemmed from a five-man scheme to sell 85,000 amphetamine tablets here last year. Last week the office of the U.S. attorney for the Western District of Missouri said that Malone, who with the others was indicted on the narcotics charge in July last year, had been placed on three years' probation. He also had been charged with conspiracy to sell. However, Jay Whitfield Moody, assistant U.S. attorney, said, "After getting him sentenced, we did not want to prosecute any further because there would not have been any additional penalties and we didn't want to go to the extra expense." Malone and four Memphis men were arrested June 16, 1971, by agents of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs at the Hotel Continental in Kansas City. Authorities said they received advance information the five were chartering a private plane from Memphis to make the sale at the hotel. Malone, who had been living in Memphis and working as a municipal bond salesman, told arresting officers he was an assistant sales manager for Tax-Free Bonds, Inc. The other defendants were Larry E. Vance, 25; his brother, Eugene P. Vance, 27; Glen Massey, 24, and Michael Harrell, 25. Moody said Malone underwent extensive examinations in some institutions. "The judge considered the report from the study and thought probation the proper thing," Moody said. As a condition of their probation, Malone and Harrell "are to seek continuous counseling and guidance."

Astronauts of Apollo 15 warned about taking anything to moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Astronauts on the Apollo 15 moon flight were specifically warned against taking anything to the moon for commercial gain, according to the Washington Post today. "We covered it all in a pilots' meeting. We made damned sure the 15 crew knew about it," Donald K. Slayton, chief of flight crew operations was quoted as saying. As a result, all three, David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden have been, or will be, ejected from the astronaut corps for their role in taking souvenir stamped envelopes and a small statue on the Apollo 15 flight last year, the newspaper said. About 100 envelopes eventually were sold by a West German stamp dealer for $150,000. The astronauts originally were to receive $21,000 but later decided against it. When Slayton found out about the envelopes, a source told The Post, he "just called in the 15 crew and told them they were through. The next day they were taken off the Apollo 17 backup crew." Slayton's warning was issued in person and in writing after he learned that the private ing of North Vietnam. The intent, he said, is to prevent bombing of the North Vietnamese dikes. The administration denies that dikes have been struck intentionally. Tunney said he would not offer his amendment for a vote until Wednesday, and only then if troop-withdrawal amendments fail. McGovern's measure jibes with the Pentagon-spending views he has outlined in a campaign position paper which recommends cutting the Defense budget to $53 billion annually and scrapping such major programs as the B1 bomber and the Safeguard ABM missile. As action on the weapons bill progressed Monday, the Senate approved 76 to 9 an amendment by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., to extend the presidential authority for weapons sales and military credits to Israel without the previous $300-million ceiling.

Berkley area battling garbage

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — This San Francisco Bay area city is trying to cope with tons of garbage. It's piled in streets, back yards and even behind City Hall.

The city's 115,000 residents have been without garbage collection since July 12, when 75 refuse workers went on strike. More than 300 other city employees joined the walkout.

Bulging plastic bags and overflowing cartons line Telegraph Avenue, a scene of frequent past clashes between rock-throwing demonstrators and police hurling tear gas outside the University of California campus gates. Pressures of the continuing strike have prompted marathon negotiations. Tom Nicolopoulos, a state conciliator, kept city and union bargainers together for 20 straight hours until 4 a.m. Monday, and called them back in the afternoon. A joint statement said nothing on what, if any, progress was made. Some householders are organizing car pools to transport their refuse to dumps in nearby San Leandro and Richmond. Some have friends in adjoining Oakland who share their garbage can space. A number of young free enterprisers are making door-to-door calls offering to haul garbage for fees of 50 cents to $1.

Four unions are involved in the walkout in defiance of court injunctions holding that strikes against public agencies are illegal. The 75 refuse workers are members of United Public Employees Local 390, with about 175 more meter maids, park employees and other workers. Social workers, public health nurses, librarians, and electricians joined the strike. The strikers demand pay raises to the limit of the federal Pay Board's 5.5 per cent limit on wages and 1 per cent limit on fringes in a one-year contract. The city's last offer was a 4 per cent wage increase in an 18-month contract.

—DETROIT (AP) — Edmund Craig, 50, a part time inventor, thinks he has the solution to downtown Detroit's parking problems. He has designed a floating, multistory parking garage to ease the riverfront car storage squeeze. Primary port for the floating garage would be on the Detroit River.

Scouts visit Troop 1

Twenty-five Boy Scouts and leaders of Troop 92, traveled to Hot Springs Saturday where they were entertained by the Scouts and leaders of Troop 1, which is the oldest troop in Arkansas and is sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Hot Springs. Arriving at 10 o'clock Saturday morning the Scouts traveled to the top of Hot Springs Mountain for a hamburger barbeque after which they ran down the mountain to board two "ducks" for a 1½-hour ride on Lake Hamilton. Next the Hot Springs boys led their guests to their Blue Hole swimming pools. After nearly two hours of fun the group moved to Troop 1's camping ground on Lake Catherine for more swimming and football as their leaders prepared a fried chicken supper. This was followed with a campfire program and overnight campout. Breakfast was followed by sermonettes in a devotional service given by two Hope Scouts, John Walker and Mark Moore. Scoutmaster Harold Sisson of Troop 92 was accompanied by four of his troop council members, F.M. Cockran, William H. Morgan, Richard VanHorn and Albert Patton, who served as head cook for the big Saturday evening meal. The two-troop campout was promoted by Arthur Wimmell, who helped organize Troop 92 three years ago while he was living at McCaskill. The Wimmells moved to Hot Springs in March promising to invite the local Scouts to come up for a visit and boat ride. Al Albinson, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 1, was in charge of arrangements in Hot Springs.

Godfather: Sequel is slated

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Godfather" will ride again—to many more millions at the world's film box offices. Paramount Pictures announced the other day that "The Godfather, Part II" will be filmed early next year with Al Pacino as star and Francis Ford Coppola as producer and director. The premiere date already is set: March 27, 1972. A sequel to the Mafia saga appeared inevitable. "The Godfather" has proved a phenomenon of movie history, increasing the fortunes of Paramount and its parent company, Gulf and Western. "Charles Bluhdorn (head of Gulf and Western) has said that 'The Godfather' will earn between $125 million and $150 million in rentals," said Robert Evans, Paramount production chief. "Gone with the Wind" now holds the record with $114 million, followed by "The Sound of Music" with $112 million. But "Gone with the Wind" took 30 years to make that much, and "Sound of Music" seven years. "The Godfather" will break their records in one year. Evans reported that "The Godfather" had drawn $101 million in theater grosses during its first 18 weeks in release. When "The Godfather's" hit status seemed apparent, the Paramount production minds began thinking about a sequel. Mario Puzo, author of the original novel, was commissioned to write a continuation of the history of the Corleone family, fictional leaders of a faction of the Mafia. Figures have not been disclosed, but Puzo earned far more than his returns from the film sale of "The Godfather." "Mario got about $75,000 for the book," Evans recalled, "plus a small percentage of the profits. At the beginning, we had a one-year option on the book for $10,000; we bought it before it was written. "After the book was finished, we were offered a million dollars for our option. That was one profit we're glad we didn't make." "The Godfather, Part II" will carry the Corleone fortunes from the end of the first film, 1956, until 1972. "The new film will have the same look, the same integrity of the original," Evans said. "It will not be an exploitation picture. Coppola believes the new story will be even better than the first one." Evans happily looked forward to teaming the two films after each had played singly—"that should carry Paramount through the 1970s." And what then—"Grandson of Godfather"?

New events at Four States Fair

September 11-16, will be the week for Texarkana's largest community event, the 28th Annual Four States Fair and Rodeo. This year there have been several events, exhibits and shows added to include everyone. No longer does a person have to live in the rural area and raise livestock or farm products to be able to participate in the fair; Those who live in the cities will find there is a place to exhibit their talents, arts, crafts and some of their means of livelihood also. The original purpose outlined in the Charter dated August 14, 1945, reads: "for the scientific and educational encouragement of agriculture, horticulture, livestock, poultry and farm products by the maintenance of public fairs and exhibitions and to promote generally the welfare of agriculture, horticulture, livestock, poultry and farm products in the State and Nation." Though the Fair has re-dedicated itself, to the original purpose, as livestock and agriculture play a big part in our area's economy, we are also trying to include the many thousands of boys and girls, men and women, who do not live in our rural areas.

One of the ways the fair is trying to include more people is by having an exhibit for the Boy and Girl Scouts of the area. The fair office, with the officials of the Scouts, have worked out the rules and the classes for the arts and crafts made by the Scouts. The exhibits will be judged by competent judges chosen by the local offices and cash prizes and ribbons will be awarded. Also in trying to keep up with the times you can see a motorcycle show at the Fair on Saturday, September 16, at 2:30. The "dos and don'ts" of motorcycle riding will be explained as well as the use of different bikes demonstrated. There will be 10 events featuring the Four States Area's best riders, as the winners from three previous elimination trials will be competing at the fair for a trophy in each event and a high point trophy. Then stepping from the present we are going back into the past for one of the new exhibits as we are going to have a Mule Show, also on Sept. 16 at 9:00 a.m. The events in the Mule Show will be mule rider pleasure, mule race, mule halter, mule pulling and best mule in the show. For all the young ladies who lead our school bands we are going to have a "Twirling Festival." This event will be held every night, with the different age groups competing on different nights. Another first for this year's Four States Fair is the Paint Horse Show. The Paint Horse Show will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 13-14. There have been some changes made in some of the regular events at the fair, such as the Dress Revue. No longer is it limited to the 4-H Girls, but the name has been changed to the YOUTH FASHION REVUE and any girl who can sew and make her own clothes is welcome to enter. The divisions will be school dress, best dress, hot pant outfit (long or short skirt) and pant suits (co-ordinated fabrics, top finger-tip length). For those of you who are interested in the crafts there are divisions for decoupage, candles, tole painting, foil art, pen and ink, crewel needle point stitchery and paper tole. For information concerning these new features of the Four States Fair contact the Four States Fair office, 793-2941, writing P.O. Box 1915, Texarkana, Texas, 75501, or come out to the fair office, located at the fairgrounds.

'No bombing' by IRA, vows retaliation

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army denied today that it set the bombs that killed six persons and wounded more than 30 in a village near Londonderry Monday, but it vowed to retaliate for the British Army's occupation of Catholic enclaves.

Officials of the IRA's Provisional Wing charged in Dublin that the three bombs that wrecked the main street of Claudy were planted by British troops to divert attention from their invasion of the long-barricaded "no-go" areas Monday.

Although the guerrillas put up almost no resistance to the invading troops on Monday, "our men are still in town," IRA leader Barney McFadden told a meeting in Londonderry's Bogside.

"They will stay here and take a greater toll when the time and opportunity come," McFadden warned. "Everything is going according to plan."

"Wait until they are leaving the area, and they will see if it is so easy," said Bernadette

Devlin, the young Catholic member of the British Parliament from Northern Ireland. "The day will come when those barricades will be built again, stone by stone, brick by brick."

The soldiers appeared preparing for a long stay in the Catholic ghettos. Temporary quarters were established in schools and some unoccupied houses. Construction of new bases was started. Comparatively little violence was reported Monday night. A youth was shot and wounded in Belfast. Catholic women attacked an army patrol with knives and wounded one soldier in the hand. The army said its men were fired on three times in the Creggan district of Londonderry; the soldiers claimed they hit two of their assailants.

McKee escapes term in Texas penitentiary

DALLAS (AP) — John McKee, a top-ranking Scottish Rite Mason and former head of the Greater Dallas Crime Commission, narrowly escaped a penitentiary term Monday, but instead was assessed a seven-year probation sentence for embezzling Masonic funds.

The verdict came after three and a half hours of deliberation by a jury of eight men and four women, who earlier took seven hours to find McKee guilty.

McKee, 66, still has two indictments pending against him. One concerns a second embezzlement and the other an alleged swindle of $45,000 more from the Masonic lodge of Dallas in a 1970 stock transaction.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade must decide whether these additional indictments will be brought to trial.

Bill Alexander, McKee's lawyer, told newsmen he will appeal the case just concluded if the district attorney brings the other indictments to trial.

McKee headed the crime commission from 1957 until his indictment last February.

Then Wade and Police Chief Frank Dyson disclosed that McKee was not really McKee at all, but a man named James Kell Zullinger, who deserted from the U.S. Navy in 1929.

The indictments followed. McKee's trial lasted seven days. The first two days saw an unsuccessful bid for a change of venue, based on what was said to be excessive advance publicity about his case. From their selection Wednesday until they delivered their final verdict setting the punishment Monday afternoon, the jury were sequestered on the ninth floor of the county courthouse.

It was believed to be the first time a jury in Texas had been sequestered for a non-capital case.

4 inmates killed in cell blaze

STUART, Fla. (AP) — Four youthful inmates were killed when fire swept through a maximum security cellblock at Martin County Jail late Monday night, trapping the victims inside their locked cells, authorities reported today.

Sheriff Robert L. Crowder said preliminary investigation indicated that three of the victims apparently set magazines and mattresses ablaze, then screamed for help when the fire raged out of control.

The fourth victim, the only other prisoner in the upstairs cellblock, was confined in an adjacent cell, the sheriff said.

Crowder identified only one of the dead inmates, Robert Lassett, age 19 or 20, of Indiantown, Fla. Identity of the other three victims was withheld pending notification of relatives. All victims were in their late teens or early 20s, the sheriff said.

Crowder said smoke from the blaze prevented a jailer from reaching an electrical switch which could have opened the doors in the second floor cellblock.

Fifteen other prisoners in the jail escaped injury, Crowder said.

SBA honors McClellan

Sen. John L. McClellan was given a Certificate of Appreciation by the National Small Business Association (NSB) at a special ceremony recently. This is the highest award given by NSB to anyone outside of the business and commercial community.

The Citation reads as follows: "For Outstanding Service To The American Small Business Community National Small Business Association Salutes and Honors Senator John L. McClellan In Recognition of Significant Contributions Made To Promote Small Business And The Private Enterprise System."

Raymond Sim, President of NSB, had this to say about the award to Sen. McClellan:

"The National Small Business Association is proud and honored to be able to award this Certificate of Recognition to Sen. McClellan. Throughout (his) career in Arkansas and in the U. S. Senate, he has staunchly defended the rights and privileges of the small businessman. His record in this respect should be regarded by others as a mark to attain."

"The small business community is gratified to have the sympathetic ear of Sen. McClellan. He has bent every effort to obtain for them equality of treatment from the Congress and the various government agencies. It is a privilege for NSB to honor Sen. McClellan."

Ireland divided

Strife that grips people and land is revealed in the street scenes of Belfast. Right, a Protestant housewife argues with Roman Catholic demonstrators at Queens University. Below, under the flags of Northern Ireland and the British Union Jack, side by side in a Protestant district. Below right, a British patrol questions pedestrians, routine in the rising tide of terrorism.

Laird booted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 50 sign-carrying, shouting war protesters booted and heckled Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird at the former Clinton County Air Force Base.

Officials identified the demonstrators as students from Wilmington and Antioch colleges who mixed with about 250 Wilmington area civic and business leaders attending a meeting Monday in an auditorium at the base.

School board is discriminatory, judge asserts

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Forrest City School Board unconstitutionally discriminated against its black faculty members in matters of salary and working conditions, U. S. District Court Judge Oren Harris ruled Monday.

Harris ordered the board to establish objective standards for employment, promotion and salary determination, and ruled that black faculty members who have suffered under the past board policies would be entitled to damages.

However, Harris dismissed the specific complaints lodged in the suit by the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cato, black teachers who contended their contracts were terminated solely because of their race.

The suit was filed May 24, 1971, by the Catos as a class action on behalf of all black faculty members in the school district.

The original suit charged that white faculty members regularly were paid more than black teachers with the same education and experience, and that blacks were systematically passed over for specialized jobs such as those of football coach or band director.

The suit asked the court to order the board to compensate black teachers for any salary differentials found to exist since 1965.

Harris ruled that although the Forrest City School District had maintained a salary schedule for some years, "the record discloses that the...district has no objective nondiscriminatory criteria which it applies in employing, assigning, promoting, demoting or terminating the services of its teachers."
